National Data Collection (NCCD) 2015 at Dubbo College

From 2015, all schools are required to report as part of the National Data Collection (NCCD) on school students with disability and learning support needs.

All campuses of Dubbo College will be collecting information already available in the school about the support that is being provided to students with disability and/or learning support needs. The provision of this data will help the Government plan for students' educational needs.

The data collection will have no direct impact on your child and they will not be involved in any testing process.

The NSW Department of Education and Communities will provide data to the Australian Government from all NSW public schools in such a way that no individual student or school will be able to be identified. In this way, we will ensure the privacy and confidentiality of all students.

If you do not want your child to be counted in the data collection please contact the school by August 7, 2015. A decision to exclude your child will not affect the support they currently receive.

If you have any questions about your child being included in the data collection please contact Dubbo College.

If you need help with English to make an enquiry contact the Telephone Interpreter Service on 131 450 and ask for an interpreter in your language. The operator will call the number you provide and get an interpreter on the line to assist you with your conversation. You will not be charged for this service.
